BRIEF ABSTRACT OF LETTER.

NOTES AND ORDERS.

Subd On the abolition of the District & Sessions Courts at Bangalore in the year 1907, the Circuit System of Sessions was also abolished in the Bangalore Division as ordered in para (3) of of Go. N° J. 1400-1406 - Cts 103-86-3 dy 27.11.06.

It appears to be necessary to issue specific orders for the revival of the system on the reestablishment of the District Courts with effect from 21st inst. No notification appears to be called for as the abolition was not notified at the time (Please see Courts file N° 198-06-3)
2 Draft of an order is submitted for approval or other orders.

I am of opinion that a notification such as that proposed is necessary under Sec 9, Subsection 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure. The draft notification on the file appears to me to be all right.

Is it separately discussed anywhere whether it is necessary to revive Circuit Session I believe there was some difference of opinion on the question. Please find out & mark the reference if the question has been decided.

Subd. The question of Circuit Sessions in the Bangalore Division has been discussed first in G.O. N° F. C 10-12 & 2.10.1897 and then more recently in 1908. (Vide Courts File N° 184-07 Sls 1-3)

Hcs (122) SW(11) 16-8-1911.

13 The printed paper (marked A) contains all the arguments, for and against, urged in respect of the System of Circuit Sessions. The System was specially revived* in 1902 when a District Court was ordered to be established in Bangalore. ~~in that~~

14 One new circumstance may now be stated for consideration. The outbreak of plague periodically ~~occurs~~ in Bangalore is perhaps to be taken against the System of holding the Sessions for all the Districts in Bangalore.

15 To me, the arguments are about equally balanced. But the

* for all the divisions Para 6 of the Resolutions of the Conference of 1902 was the basis for the revival. Hay P.

the question deserves consideration. I would have left the matter alone till we got a representation about it either from the Chief Court or from the I.G. of Police, which would have been an indication of the need for change. If the Dewan agrees, the draft Notn may issue. Otherwise, the Chief may be asked to give an opinion again on the question.

17 2. Circuit sessions are certainly desirable in the interests of Police officers & the witnesses on both sides. ~~If~~ While other considerations are equally balanced, the advantage of a high judicial officer being on tour, 3 or 4 times in the year decides the question in favour of the said system, which is also recommended by the Hg.
